

Cora Howe MVP's August

Jacob Smith deserves MVP of the month of August due to his excellence in reading and math. He does a wonderful job helping and delivering with breakfast in the mornings. Jacob comes to class ready to learn and is engaged throughout. Thank you, Jacob for being someone cluster 2 can count on!!

Desmond Macon is deserving of the student of the month for August for his focus in the classroom and his outstanding behavior and leadership. He works hard and gets his work done. He models positive behavior for his classmates and follows directions quickly. He stands up for those he cares about and has a generally positive attitude.

Caleb Wright comes into class and gets right to work. He needs little to no prompts to do so. Also, he's great in ignoring peers when they are seeking attention.

Joseph Baker has remained on task in ACT class and math. He volunteers to read, taking his time to decode/blended syllables, and engages in the material. Joseph has also responded to redirection very well.

Charlie Gregory has been making progress towards his IEP goals and is showing appropriate behaviors approximately 90% of the time.

Brandon Littlefield is excelling with his academic work and maintain his self-regulation and behavior management skills. Brandon is an excellent model for his peers and classmates.
